

CYCLONIC STORM
FATAL TO THREETwo Die in Collapse of Barn
at St. Paul Dairy.

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS LARGE

Mrs. Alma Freyer and Little Mary
Bergman Are Crushed to Death by Water Tank Which Crashed
Through Barn—Five Others Escape
Injury in Same Building.

St. Paul, July 13.—Three persons killed, and another mortally injured; an estimated property loss of $100,000; houses unroofed, sheds and barns crushed, windows shattered, basements flooded, train and trolley car service abandoned on many lines, telephone and telegraph communication in many directions hampered, several gardens and field crops ruined and numerous narrow escapes—these figure in the total computed from incomplete reports of the havoc left in the wake of the cyclonic storm which swept the Twin Cities and suburbs. The storm area covered St. Paul, Minneapolis, South and West St. Paul, and intermediate points between this city and White Bear Lake and Stillwater, and all through Southeastern Minnesota. At Lakeview, near Lake City, five national guardsmen were seriously hurt by lightning and many others shocked.

The rain was very heavy, in some places being reported as very like a cloudburst.

A large cow barn on the farm of John Bergman, dairyman, collapsed during the wind, killing Mrs. Anna Freyer, Ellsworth, Wis., and Mary Bergman, five years old, instantly. Mr. Bergman, his wife and their three other children, Helen, aged seven; John, aged four, and Jacob, aged eighteen months, were in the barn at the time, but escaped with minor injuries. Twenty cows were in the barn, and all killed by the falling walls.

Whole Family in Stable.

Mr. Bergman and his wife had just got the cows into the barn prior to milking when the storm struck. With them were three of the children who stood watching the parents at work. Mrs. Freyer, who was twenty-two years old, and worked about the farm as a servant, had been left at the house with the baby, Jacob. Fearing to stay alone in the farm house during the terrific wind and hail which deluged that portion of the city, Mrs. Freyer with the baby in her arms ran through the rain to the cow barn.

She stood in the aisle separating the cows from the rest of the barn and, holding the baby in her arms, was talking with the father and mother. Little Mary clung to her skirts in fear of the rain. Suddenly, and without warning, the barn, which was heavily loaded with hay in the loft, crashed to the ground. A water tank which stored water for the cattle in the loft, crashed through the floor and caught Mrs. Freyer in its descent, pinning her to the ground. The little girl also was pinioned by the timbers of the tank but the baby escaped with its life. How the other members of the family escaped can not be told as they themselves are at a loss to account for it. Bruises on the back and legs were the only evidence of injury to the little child.

Mrs. Freyer probably died instantly, as her skull was fractured. Mrs. Bergman was bruised on her body. Mrs. Bergman, who is a half sister to the dead woman, worked frantically to extricate her in the hope that life was not yet extinct. A half hour elapsed before the body was freed of the encumbering timbers. Mary Bergman's body was found beside the body of her aunt with the abdomen crushed in. Neighbors flocking to the scene aided in the recovery of the bodies. The barn at present is a mass of broken timbers, unroofed hay and dead bodies of animals. The loss is placed at $5,000.

Mrs. Freyer has lived at the Bergman home for about three years.

STILLWATER IS STORMSWEEP

Sewers Flooded and Houses Destroyed by Lightning.

Stillwater, Minn., July 13.—The most severe rain and electrical storm in years visited this city and vicinity. The St. Paul train, due to leave here at 5 p. m. for Hastings, received orders to remain for the night and carry out all available workmen for track repairing in the morning. There was a cloudburst below Afton that washed out a large section of track.

Street cars in this city were stalled, and the Olive street sewer, near Second street, burst. Lightning struck the Charles Peterson dwelling on Olive street, and it burned to the ground.

Washington, July 13.—A special train will convey house Democrats to Jeagirt, N. J., to attend the notification of Governor Wilson that he has been nominated by his party for the presidency. This was decided by the house Democratic caucus.

Speaker Champ Clark has left for Jeagirt to visit Governor Wilson.

SEVERAL OTHERS INJURED

Ralph C. Gillette, Struck by Bolt at

Several Others Injured, One Possibly Fatally—Several Houses Wrecked
and Much Damage Done.

Minneapolis, July 13.—Ralph C. Gillette, eldest son of L. C. Gillette of the Minneapolis Steel and machinery company, was killed instantly by a bolt of lightning while seeking shelter under a tree on the Interlachen Golf club links during the storm. Dr. C. W. Card, a dentist, was knocked unconscious and was in a serious condition for a few minutes after the shock. Joe Nelson, ten years old, a caddy boy, is thought to have been fatally injured by the bolt of lightning that struck Mr. Gillette. He is in the clubhouse at Interlachen under the constant attendance of two physicians. They held but slight hopes for his recovery. E. S. Houston, a coffee salesman, was stunned by the same stroke, but recovered shortly. Another caddy, whose name is unknown, was knocked down, but recovered before any others of the party.

Mr. Gillette was married and had one daughter, six years old. Both the wife and daughter were at the golf links at the time he was killed, and were prostrated. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1902 and was prominent in athletics and other university circles.

IOWA HIT BY HEAVY STORM

Damages Grain and Lightning Destroy Barns and Cattle.

Clarion, Ia., July 13.—An electrical storm, accompanied by a high wind that in places had the velocity of a cyclone, did immense damage to standing grain in the north central part of Iowa. In many instances buildings were blown down or were struck by lightning and burned. Much of the oats and corn in this section of the state is down and the loss, as a result, will be heavy.

Arthur Carr of near Fertile narrowly escaped being killed in the storm. The team he was driving home was struck by lightning and killed. Carr was stunned, but not severely injured. The Ike Koeler barn, near Thornton, was struck by lightning and burned with all of its contents. The loss is $3,000. In Dougherty the Sweeney livery barn was struck by lightning and completely destroyed. The loss is $10,000. Eight head of valuable dairy cows were killed by lightning when the storm swept over Cartersville. The animals were owned by Joe Connors. In Swaledale the wind was especially severe, blowing down flat field after field of corn and oats.

WINONA DISTRICT DELUGED

Rain Falls for Three Hours in Southeastern Minnesota.

Winona, Minn., July 13.—Winona county and the southeast section of Minnesota was deluged by a rain which held forth for fully three hours. The rain fell spasmodically, but came in torrents in the city. Telephone and telegraph wires were broken and twisted.

Reports from the countryside are difficult to procure, but it is unlikely any damage was done crops. It is believed, however, that there was further loss from lightning. The storm in Southern Minnesota was confined to the territory between this city and Rochester, according to railway reports. The bulk of the storm passed over this section into Wisconsin.

Thaw Soon to Know Fate.

White Plains, N. Y., July 13.—That Harry K. Thaw will know his fate within two weeks is the announcement made by Justice Martin J. Keogh. All of the evidence bearing upon the sanity of Stanford White's slayer has been completed and the court announced he would hear the summing up of arguments at New Rochelle Tuesday.

Governor's Daughter Hurt.

Valley City, N. D., July 13.—While her father was making the opening address at the Chautauqua here Marion, the eight-year-old daughter of Governor Burke, was seriously injured. She was crossing the ground where some boys were playing with horseshoes, and one of the flying shoes struck her on the head.

Charles Towne Says He Might Vote for Palmer, Morgan or Thaw.

New York, July 13.—"I can picture to myself an extremity wherein I might possibly vote for J. Pierpont Morgan, Al Palmer or Harry Thaw for president of the United States, but it is absolutely beyond the wildest flight of my facile, vigorous imagination to conceive of circumstances under which I could so stultify my reason and patriotism, my manhood, my sanity, as to vote for Theodore Roosevelt," Charles A. Towne, former United States senator from Minnesota and now a resident of New York, thus emphatically denied the report that he was considering joining the Roosevelt party. He is out for Wilson and Marshall, and will support and vote for them.

SEVERAL INJURED
AT CAMP LAKEVIEWFive Guardsmen Made Unconscious by Lightning.

Camp Lakeview, Minn., July 13.—The grounds were struck by lightning during the worst storm in camp history, and many men were shocked, five seriously enough to require the services of the ambulance and treatment in the hospital.

The storm broke soon after 7 p. m. following the return of the men from the parade ground on the run, after tendering a review to Governor Eberhart. A spattering of rain fell while the men were passing in review and the dark clouds indicated the approach of a severe storm. Colonel Luce directed the majors to march their battalions to camp on the double time, and they had barely time to roll down the walls of their tents when the storm broke almost in the severity of a cloudburst.

The rain continued to fall in driving sheets for nearly an hour, and it was not until after 8 o'clock that lightning struck the camp. The main force of the bolt was felt in Company I street in the vicinity of the new steel flag pole. The second and fifth tents in the company street seem to have been struck, the bolt igniting a satchel in the second tent, which contained some ammunition. This blaze was reported to the sentinel on No. 5, who called for the guard and fire call was sounded by the bugler on duty. Before anyone could respond the fire was out, and then it was discovered that several men had been made unconscious.

The ambulance was called and two men were removed to the hospital.

STORM CAUSES PANIC IN CAR

Number of Passengers Narrowly Escape Serious Injury.

St. Paul, July 13.—Half a dozen persons narrowly escaped serious injury in an eastbound University avenue car near Lexington baseball park, when it is believed a bolt of lightning, struck the front end of the car, bewildering the motorman and scorching the controller box.

The car was crowded with "fans" returning from the game at Lexington park, and the motorman had just closed the gates when the flash came. Immediately there was a rush for the rear of the car and several were crushed against the gates. The conductor, it is said, pleaded with the people to be calm, but to no avail, and until the gates gave way under the pressure from within, several were in danger of being crushed or suffocated. The storm seriously interfered with the city.

Oakland, Cal., July 13.—Joaquin Miller, the poet, prostrated as the result of his recent public appearances and the attending overexertion, is lying at his hermitage under the constant care of a physician.

Since he responded to an invitation to speak at the Fourth of July celebration the aged poet has been confined to his bed, having suffered a relapse following the excitement of his address.

CONGRESS LOOKS
TO ADJOURNMENTMembers Anxious to Get Home
For the Campaign.

CLARK AND THE PRESIDENCY.

In 1916 He Will Be Sixty-six, and the Cry That He Is Too Old Would Be Raised if He Again Were a Candidate—Underwood Likely to Nurse
His Ambition.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 13.—[Special.]—Congress has resumed almost its normal condition, and both branches are bending every effort to secure the passage of the necessary legislation in order that there may be an adjournment. The demand of members for adjournment on account of the campaign is not so urgent now as it was a few weeks before the national conventions. Now that these great events are over there is no necessity for members in such large numbers to be home and at work on their fences as there was in the days when delegates were being named and states arranged for the coming election. At the same time the men who have been here so long are anxious to get home and mingle with their people before the campaign opens in earnest.

Champ's Last Chance.

Speaker Champ Clark is not an old man now; he is but sixty-two years of age, but he will be sixty-six when the next Democratic convention assembles. That was the age of Governor Harmon at the time the late convention met, and he was said to be too old for the nomination. The same thing will be said about Champ Clark, and many men now think he has had his last and last chance for the presidency. Champ's friends also assert that Mr. Bryan was responsible for his defeat and that the speaker, if he never reaches the president's chair, will always feel that Bryan prevented him from obtaining the honor.

Underwood Can Wait.

Congressman Underwood can come again. He is young enough to make the fight in 1916 and even four years after that if he continues to have political ambitions. And he will probably continue to be a candidate as long as he lives. No man ever gets away from that ambition once he has set his mind on the place. I have known men who struggled for years to become president finally seek the office of vice president as the last hope of getting the higher place in case the president should pass to the beyond. Oscar Underwood can continue to be a candidate for a long time and still not be too old for president.

Time For the College Boys.

Although President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt are college men, it is observed that the college boys all over the country are whooping it up for Governor Wilson. It must be on account of the fact that Governor Wilson was so long identified with a college. Possibly before the campaign is over the contest will come between the blue of Yale, the crimson of Harvard and the yellow and orange of Princeton. The Princeton and other college boys were in evidence at the Baltimore convention and gave the proceedings genuine college enthusiasm.

The Vice Presidency.

The time was when every nomination for the vice presidency by the Republicans was made solely on the ground as to whether or not the candidate could contribute or command contributions to the campaign fund. That idea was abandoned when Roosevelt was named for second place and has not cut much figure since. The Democrats have always named a candidate for vice president with the idea that he would contribute strength to the ticket among the voters on account of the section whence he came. There was one exception in recent years.

Not a Great Office.

No one in a convention ever threw so many bricks at an office as did Senator Bankhead when he scorned the suggestion that Oscar Underwood should have it. No one can blame either Underwood or Clark for refusing to accept second place on the ticket. They were too prominent before the convention as candidates for president to take the second place with self respect. And, whatever one may say about the honor of the position, it must be acknowledged that it is not very much of an office for a man of presidential size. It is a jealousy of which senators guard their rights the president of the senate is simply a figurehead.

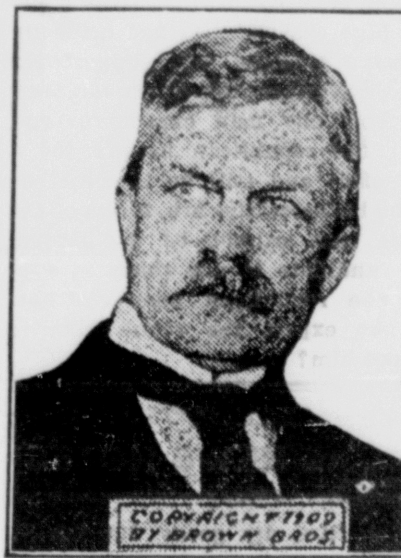

Governor Burke's Candidacy.

Governor Burke of North Dakota, who received so many votes for vice president at Baltimore, was defeated for two reasons. One was that the Wilson men felt very grateful toward Indiana and Illinois for coming to them at the psychological moment, and those states wanted Marshall for vice president. The other was that Governor Burke is a Catholic. There were many men in that convention who doubted the expediency of naming a Catholic on the ticket, although it might have given the ticket considerable strength. But the first reason was sufficient. Whether or not there was an understanding which brought Indiana and Illinois to Wilson, the fact that they came made it possible to give Governor Marshall the second place.

FACILITATES HOMESTEADING

Mondell Bill Removing Red Tape Reported Favorably.

Washington, July 13.—A bill to permit homesteaders to prove up on both original and additional entries as though the entries had been made at the same time, has been favorably reported by the public lands committee of the house. It was introduced by Representative Mondell of Wyoming because of a ruling made by Assistant Secretary Adams of the interior department that where an additional entry had been made, subsequent to the original entry, proof should not be made upon the subsequent filing until all requirements of the law as to time, cultivation, etc., had been complied with. Mr. Mondell believed this ruling was not contemplated by the law and therefore introduced his bill.

TO LET ARCHBALD
SET TRIAL DATESenators Agree to Consider
Judge's Preference.

Washington, July 13.—The solemn ceremonial of impeachment of Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court in the senate will depend as to date largely upon the preference expressed by the accused jurist.

At least a majority of the Republican senators prefer to postpone the formal proceedings until cooler weather, meantime allowing both the house, which adopted the articles of impeachment with only one dissenting vote, and the counsel for defense, ample time for preparation. The Democratic senators are more disposed to favor earlier action, but both sides agree that Judge Archbald's preference should be given consideration. The differing contentions for immediate hearing and for postponement until next autumn, probably will be fought out on the floor of the senate.

The official impeachment papers prepared by the house employees will be perfunctorily submitted to the senate as soon as the body disposes of the Lorimer election case, the pendency of which blocks all other business. Then the prosecuting managers, headed by Chairman Clayton of the house judiciary committee, will be escorted by the sergeant-at-arms to the bar of the senate, where, in an address to the presiding officer, demand will be made that Judge Archbald be summoned to answer to impeachment. A committee of five senators will then be appointed to consider the house resolution. This committee probably will be headed by Senator Clark of Wyoming, chairman of the judiciary committee.

Chief Justice Fuller administered the oaths of judges to the senators in the last impeachment, that of Judge Swayne, but if the Archbald case is heard this summer, it is not probable that a member of the Supreme Court of the United States will be called upon to perform this duty. The rules of the senate provide that the presiding officer shall administer the oath. This was set aside in the Swayne case.

No decision has been reached by senators as to who shall preside over the senate, sitting in trial.

MRS. MORROW'S TRIAL BEGINS

Chicago Clubwoman Is Accused of Chicago, July 13.—Taking of testimony has begun in the trial of Mrs. Rena B. Morrow for the alleged murder of her husband, an inventor, on Dec. 2.

In his opening argument, Assistant State Attorney Northrup explained that it "was a physical impossibility for a man to shoot himself as the deceased was shot."

Mrs. Morrow said her husband committed suicide.

Stockholm.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 13.—The American athletes won two more events at the Olympic games. Fred W. Kelly, University of South California, took the final heat of the 110-meter hurdle race, while Wendell and Hawkins, also representing the United States, ran second and third, respectively, in this event.

Albert L. Gutterson, University of Vermont, captured the running broad jump with a new Olympic record of 24 feet 11 inches.

In addition the United States finished second and third in the discus, fifth in the modern pentathlon and won places in many heats in other events, the finals of which are yet to be decided. Thus far the Olympic has been a festival of general good feeling and good sportsmanship in which a few minor clashes were inevitable.

Soldiers Shoot Forty-three After an Attack by Indians.

Oaxaca, Mex., July 13.—After being attacked by a band of mountain Indians and defeating them, 600 citizens of Ixtlan lined up forty-three prisoners and shot them. The citizen soldiers were escorting the prisoners here to the state penitentiary when attacked by the Indians. Seventy Indians were killed and a number of the escort party met a like fate, but none of the prisoners escaped. To forestall another attack the prisoners were executed and the citizen soldiers returned home.

Nagel Makes Decision in Regard to Imbecile Immigrant.

CHILD'S FATHER NATURALIZED

Secretary of Commerce and Labor
Removes Bars Restricting Admittance of Minor Foreign Born Children of Naturalized Citizens—Declaration Is Far Reaching.

Washington, July 13.—All bars restricting admittance to the United States of minor foreign-born children of naturalized citizens, whether imbeciles, idiots or other forbidden classes, were swept away by a far-reaching interpretation of the immigration and naturalization laws by Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor.

The secretary authorized the entry into this country from Russia of twelve-year-old Riwke Polayes, who had been held at Ellis Island, N. Y., for several weeks, threatened with deportation on the certificate of surgeons of the public health and marine hospital service that she is an imbecile. Granting she is an imbecile, the secretary held that the immigration laws were not applicable to her because her father, Jacob Polayes of New Haven, Conn., is a naturalized citizen.

Mr. Nagel interpreted the law to mean that the naturalization of a man conferred American citizenship upon all his minor children as soon as they relinquished their residence abroad.

Overturns Previous Policy.

The decision overturned the previous policy of the government. The law provides that minor children of an alien who are living in the United States automatically become citizens of this country as soon as their father is naturalized, but officials have invariably held that all children dwelling outside of the United States at the time of their father's naturalization must pass the immigration tests before they can enter and claim citizenship.

The secretary said the question revolved about the interpretation of the word "reside" in the immigration act, which provides that the citizenship shall become operative when a minor child "begins to reside permanently in the United States." Residence being largely intention, Mr. Nagel declared that the "constructive residence" of the child as soon as it abandoned its foreign home was the dwelling place of the father. Consequently when the little girl sailed from Russia she was constructively residing in the United States.

The question has never been decided by the courts in connection with the present immigration laws and there was wide divergence of opinion among officials. Attorney General Wickersham and practically all of the authorities of the department of commerce and labor at first disagreed with the secretary, but he is said to have convinced them of the correctness of his position.

PROTEST GOES TO SENATE

British Objection Won't Be Handled
by State Department.

Washington, July 13.—The senate was officially notified of the British protest against the Panama canal administration, when Secretary of State Knox, in a letter to Senator Brandegee, chairman of the senate inter-oceanic canals committee, outlined the objections raised by Great Britain. The letter, paraphrasing the protest by Charge d'Affaires Innes, was generally accepted as voicing the decision of the state department to leave the entire matter in the hands of congress, where the legislation in dispute is now pending.

The state department has taken the attitude that the protest of the British government against free American ships is not properly a matter for diplomatic treatment at this time. The note outlining the British objections, now on its way from London, will be transmitted immediately to the senate and the state department probably will make no reply except for a formal acknowledgement of the receipt of the communication.

Wilson Managers to Meet.

Chicago, July 13.—Urey Woodson, former secretary of the Democratic national committee, has arrived in Chicago to make arrangements for headquarters for party chiefs who will meet here Monday to deliberate on plans for Wilson's campaign. He made arrangements for rooms at a Michigan avenue hotel. When the campaign committee formally organizes his duties will have been completed.

5,000 Acres Swept by Storm.

Ellendale, N. D., July 13.—Heavy hail losses have been sustained in Dickey county by a storm which swept over about 5,000 acres, on 2,000 acres of which the loss is practically complete. The storm was accompanied by terrific winds and many small farm buildings were demolished. Trees were uprooted and windows were smashed by the hailstones.

Gov. Eberhart knows where he is at politically and does not hesitate to tell the committee who have issued the call for a third party movement in Minnesota that he is for President Taft, the republican nominee.

Ed. Young one of the many candidates for governor, refuses to sign the third party call although listed as a supporter of that faction. The cars seem to be searing a good many candidates out of their announced ideas.

Charles A. Towne has denounced Bryan and in the same breath takes a whirl at those who have listed him as a Roosevelt supporter and the language he uses would almost make Teddy blush. However the colonel will probably struggle along without him.

James Tawney is liable to be a factor in the First district political scrap at the coming election. The people he formerly represented in congress are not as well satisfied with their present representative as was expected. If Tawney throws his coat and hat into the ring there will be a battle royal.

Speaker Dunn, of the last legislature, does not believe there is any call for a third party, and although he was a prominent Roosevelt leader in his home county in the primary fight, and to his work along that line is largely due the success of the colonel in the First district, he is against him now and declares that a candidate should not try to eclipse his party. Speaker Dunn has refused to sign the call for a third party and will be with the republican nominee.

If Cass county is split in two, as designed by 451 legal voters of that county in petition which has been filed at Walker, the new county of Clover will comprise 27 townships of the southern portion with an assessment valuation of $2,300,000 and with Pine River as the county seat. The commissioners named for the new county are A. A. Mowatt, of Poplar; W. B. Jones, of Sylvan; Alf Johnson, of Walden; B. L. Perry, of Backus and Michael Smith, of Ponto

Lake. The northern and southern portions of Cass county have always been warring factions and it seems at this distance that the county is large enough to divide and make two counties and that the interests of the people would be best served by so doing.
James Manahan, the St. Paul lawyer, has announced his candidacy for congressman at large on the republican ticket. The gentleman was formerly a democrat but last year announced himself a progressive republican and a LaFollette supporter. Like many other candidates for state office he is between the devil and the deep blue sea and has not made up his mind who he will support for president under the circumstances. Just how any man expects to run under the republican banner for a state office and still be in doubt as to who his associates are, is one of the things that cannot be deciphered. If a candidate is not going to support the republican nominees how does he expect the republicans to support him?

KEEP CUTS CLEAN.
Then There Isn't Anything For Them to Do but Heal.
The cut made by the surgeon should always be kept absolutely free from germs. If infection occurs we know that some one has blundered. Accidental cuts, on the other hand, are almost invariably infected.
The germs of disease are everywhere. No matter how small the cut may be or how brief its exposure to the air, germs are almost certain to enter. If an accidental cut is to heal quickly and well all germs must be carefully removed at the first dressing.
When we consider how many are the ways in which a cut may become infected we can understand why such precautions are necessary. Infection is often introduced by the very implement that makes the wound. Only surgeons use sterilized instruments. A knife or a pair of scissors or a piece of glass or crockery is almost certain to plant germs in the furrow it plows. Germs may also enter from the clothing, from the hands of whoever rushes to help, from the first piece of cloth or handkerchief used to staunch the flow of blood or from the water used for the first washing.
Since the avenues of danger are so numerous, it is safest to assume that infection has occurred. It follows that every family should understand some of the simplest methods of sterilization. Heat is the simplest of all. The mother of a family should keep a supply of soft linen rags that have been thoroughly boiled. She should keep them not on an open shelf with towels or other cloths, but done up in a carefully closed oiled paper bag or protected from the air in some other equally effective way. For washing the wound she should use only water that has been boiled. When the doctor comes he will add some kind of chemical antiseptics, and it will be proved once more that a clean cut can do nothing but heal.—Youth's Companion.

CHANGEABLE CHICAGO.
Has Eight Counties and Many Varied Spellings to Its Credit.
"Few people know that Chicago has been in eight different counties of Illinois," said an old Chicago man. "It was first placed within the limits of Madison county, Illinois then being a territory, Sept. 14, 1812.
"Subsequently it was included in the following counties serially: Edwards in 1814; Crawford, 1816; Clark, after the territory was admitted as a state, 1819; Pike, 1821; Fulton, 1823; Peoria, 1825, under the jurisdiction of which it remained until the creation of the county of Cook, Jan. 15, 1831.
"The name of the city, too, has been spelled more than a dozen ways. Father Hennepin called it Che-cau-gou; La Salle, Shecagou; on an old French map of 1682, Chekagou; on another old map (1673) in the Historical society library at Madison, Wis., it is Chikagua; Father Gravier (1690) wrote it Chikagoua, and in 1700 St. Some wrote it variously Chikagu, Chikagou, Chikagu and Chicago, he being the first to give the letters the arrangement which finally was settled upon as the authorized spelling. Charlevoix gave the same spelling in 1721. In the Greenview treaty (as revised) it is Chikagu.
"In an old deed filed away among the archives of the Chicago Historical society, as applied to the river or creek (1774), it is plainly written Chikagou. The word was the Indian word for garlic or wild onion and signified to the red men strong, mighty, powerful, courageous.
"In 1725 a chief bore the name Chicago (under some one of its many spellings), who went to Paris and was made much of by kings and princes."

WOMAN ROBBED IN BED CHAMBER

Gregor Woman Secretes $2,350 in Mattress After Counting It
Over Before Retiring

WAS DISTRUSTFUL OF BANKS

Robber Demanded Money, the Lady Fainted, and He Escaped Without Alarming the Household

An Aitkin telegram says that the home of Mrs. John Fulton at McGregor was robbed last night of $2,350 in cash and the burglar got safely away with his loot. The Fultons had been out rather late last evening and when Mrs. Fulton came home she retired to her chamber on the upper floor of the home and counted over her money which she expected to pay today for 80 acres of land that had been bargained for. After getting through counting the money, she tied it in a handkerchief and hid it in the mattress of the bed. She had been in bed but a short time when she was shocked to see a masked man step out of a clothes closet and blow out the light, which had been left burning and he then held a flash light on her, at the same time demanding her with a revolver and demanding that the money be turned over to him. Mrs. Fulton promptly fainted, and when she regained consciousness the robber had made his escape with the money. The job was done so noiselessly that the husband sleeping downstairs was not awakened until his wife came out of her fainting spell.

Fulton has had charge of the McGregor coal shed and pumping station at McGregor for the Northern Pacific for many years and the money stolen represented his savings and the price paid him by the Soo when that road went through his property at the time of its building. During the hard times in the nineties Fulton lost $800 through the failure of a bank and since then he has been prejudiced against such institutions.

POSTMASTERS FOUND GUILTY

Former Postmasters of Crosby and Wahkon Convicted of Embezzlement and Receive Sentence

Judge Page Morris, of the federal court at Duluth, fined two defaulting postmasters and gave them some talk about the liquor habit yesterday. Ivor C. Iverson, former postmaster at Crosby, Crow Wing county, and Emil C. Liegas, former postmaster at Wahkon, Mille Lacs county, were the culprits. The former embezzled $1,061 and the latter $511. They have reimbursed the government and on account of their families, Judge Morris was lenient.

He fined each a sum equal to the amount embezzled. In default of payment they will have to remain in their respective county jails until the fines are worked out.

LYNCH BUSY MAKING HAY

Special by phone to Dispatch:—
Gull Lake, Minn., July 13—When local democracy, represented by Con O'Brien, the delegate-at-large to Baltimore; Alderman James M. Elder and Senator C. D. Johnson, with Dr. J. L. Camp, called on National Committeeman Fred B. Lynch, of St. Paul, at his summer home at Gull lake, near Brainerd, they found the Warwick of Democracy pitching hay. He was called the "big fellow" at Baltimore, but the way he tossed hay in his field revealed him as a "big fellow" capable of grasping and settling satisfactorily any kind of a problem. Brainerd and Crow Wing county are proud of Lynch and believe Gull lake will become the most important center in the United States when Lynch is around.

THE STATE FAIR

Big Addition to the Agricultural Building Containing 6,041 Square
Feet is Completed

Hamline, Minn., July 13—With the completion of the addition to the agricultural building on the state fair grounds, Minnesota has the largest permanent building devoted to the exhibition of agricultural products in the entire world.

The new part, built between the east and south wings of the old structure, contains 6,041 square feet, making a grand total in the building of 38,873 square feet of available floor space. This is not only the largest agricultural building in the world, but it is the largest amount of floor space under one roof on the Minnesota State Fair Grounds with the possible exception of the grandstand, in which there are four floors instead of one.

Even this immense building will not be large enough to properly house the county and agricultural exhibits of the 1912 state fair. Last year the old building was crowded with thirty-four county exhibits. This year forty-six counties have taken space for exhibits and there are a half dozen more that have not yet decided, so that the total number of county exhibits this year will probably be fifty or practically sixty per cent of all the counties in the state.

This remarkable showing insures the state's resources and possibilities being perfectly mirrored at the state fair. It is also making Superintendent Craig and Secretary Simpson resort to mathematical calculus in an effort to find room for all of the counties and for the market gardeners and other agricultural exhibitors besides. They insist, however, that all will be provided for if they have to build still another addition.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

SUNDAY PICNIC STOPPED BY BYLAW

Grand Secretary A. L. Bolton so Notifies Executive Committee that Odd Fellow Picnic

CANNOT BE HELD ON SUNDAY

Some Other Date will have to be Chosen—The Committee Appointed to Date

When the executive committee having in charge the general arrangements for the coming Odd Fellow picnic near Deerwood, on Serpentine lake, Sunday July 28 addressed an invitation to the grand lodge officers of the state of Minnesota, they were not prepared for the reply they received.

Grand Secretary A. L. Bolton informed the committee that no public picnic under the auspices of the Odd Fellows or a committee of the Odd Fellows could be given on a Sunday. Their bylaws prohibited such action. The matter has been taken up with the grand master.

Locally there was nothing to be found in the bylaws or the constitution which acted as a preventive of such a picnic, so that the local executive committee thinks it must be a provision in the sovereign grand constitution which prohibits such action.

Until matters are cleared up, this effectively puts a quietus on a Sunday picnic of the Odd Fellows. All the advertising matter had been set up and was ready to be sprung just as soon as arrangements had been perfected for the special train. Another date will now be selected just as soon as the committees can get together.

The finance committee consists E. E. Seavy of Aitkin.

The transportation committee: L. M. Dupue and Jerry M. Glunt, of Brainerd.

Amusements committee: L. E. Boekenog, of Aitkin; R. R. Graham, of Deerwood; John Bye of Brainerd.

Music committee: S. V. Long of Brainerd; H. G. Beecher of Aitkin; E. A. Wasserzieher of Deerwood. Refreshment committee: L. E. Wilson of Deerwood; A. Zoerb of Aitkin; A. Hallberg of Brainerd.

Entertainment committee: George S. McCulloch of Brainerd.

Advertising committee: S. V. Long of Brainerd and Fred Jenkins of Aitkin.

Grounds committee: E. G. Ingalls of Crosby.

Law and order committee: O. C. Coffin of Deerwood; James Yetes of Aitkin and Henry Roberts of Brainerd.

The idea of the Odd Fellows picnic and the growing enthusiasm manifested is such that all interested hope another date will soon be selected and the picnic held. Invitations were being accepted by Odd Fellows as far south as Little Falls, west to Staples and north to Bemidji. It promised to be the biggest thing ever held in the annals of picnics in Crow Wing county.

The committee is assured of a special train for the occasion. The Ingalls Motor Boat Co. was prepared to handle the crowds. Everything was moving splendidly until the unyielding bylaw was sighted by Grand Secretary A. L. Bolton.

Saari-Luke

A pretty wedding was solemnized this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. Luke, on Barrows avenue, Barrows, when their daughter Gladys was united in the hand of marriage to Elmer Saari, of Mountain Iron, St. Louis county. The marriage was witnessed by quite a group of immediate relatives. The bride was gowned in a dress of embroidered silk marquisette and was assisted at the home altar by Beatrice Trembach, of Michigan, with Mr. A. W. Sarri acting as best man for the groom.

The short ring service of the Methodist Episcopal church was used and the lines were read by the Rev. Charles Fox Davis.

After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding feast was served to which a large number of guests sat down.

Both of the young couple are well known in Mountain Iron, Minnesota, and have made many friends in Barrows during their short stay there. They will leave next week and make their future home in Mountain Iron.

NO MORE WEATHER REPORTS GIVEN OUT

Congress Delayed to Pass an Appropriation Bill for the Current Fiscal Year

SERVICE TO BE RESUMED LATER

Northwestern Telephone Exchange
Co. May Distribute the Weather Forecasts

The U. S. government has ceased to supply the city with local weather forecasts and consequently the cold wave and rain flag and other paraphernalia in the signal line will not fly from the masthead at the hose house and the Dispatch can no more put the forecast in its weather section.

Congress did not pass an appropriation bill covering this work of the weather bureau. The following letter explains matters:

U. S. Department of Agriculture
Climatological Service of the Weather Bureau.
Minneapolis, July 12, 1912
Forecast Distributor.

Dear Sir:

By direction of the Chief of Bureau action has been taken to discontinue the daily forecasts by telegraph to your address. This action is necessitated by the delay of Congress in passing the appropriation bill for the current fiscal year. When the bill is passed, the service will probably be resumed. In this connection, I beg leave to call your attention to the inclosed card, Form No. 4074. Mis. and to say that all offices of the Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph Company, and their connecting lines, give the forecasts free of charge to all their subscribers on request to the exchange. Also many offices of the Northwestern Telephone Co. give the forecasts free of charge to their patrons. I request that you endeavor to have the distribution of the forecasts continue and if possible you obtain the forecasts from your telephone exchange without expense to the government.

Very Respectfully,

U. G. PURSELL,

Section Director

Upon inquiring at the local Northwestern exchange office no steps had been taken to supply or transmit weather forecasts. Commercial Manager T. H. Considine will take up the matter with the telephone officials.

Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone announces that the postponed recital of Miss Oriana Bernice Glass will be given Tuesday evening, July 16. Those formerly invited are requested to kindly accept this date as a substitute for May 17.

Wouldn't Have Missed.

As a battalion was returning from rifle practice at the ranges a shot was discharged from the leading company, apparently by accident, but the bullet passed uncomfortably close to the colonel. "Look here," he roared to the captain of the company, "who fired that shot?" "Sir," replied the officer proudly, "it can't be a man of my company, for they are all first class shots."—London Globe.

STORIES OF THE STAGE.

A Splendid Accident Averted and an Actor Who Dined Too Well.

Here is an incident that was related by the late Bram Stoker, for many years manager to Irving of the production of "Hamlet" at the Lyceum in London.

On the second night of the performance the Chinese ambassador and Sir Halliday Macartney came to see Irving in his dressing room, and presently the ambassador, who was wearing magnificent robes of mandarin yellow, wandered off in the direction of the stage. The ambassador was close to the edge of the arch at the back of the scene, where Ophelia had made her entrance and would make her exit. Mr. Stoker "jumped for him and just succeeded in catching him before he had passed into the blaze of the limelight. I could fancy the sudden amazement of the audience and the wild roar of laughter that would follow when in the midst of this most sad and pathetic of scenes would enter unheralded this gorgeous anachronism."

Mr. Stoker confessed that he was tempted to let the splendid accident occur. "Its unique grotesqueness would have insured a widespread publicity not to be acquired by ordinary forms of advertisement."

On another occasion a very different and very painful contretemps did occur. The actor who took the part of Polonius on entering gave his first line with so strange an intonation that Irving at once signified to the prompter to let fall the act drop, came forward and apologized to the audience and restarted the play with a new Polonius!—London Graphic.

WOMEN AND CARD GAMES.

In Chile Such a Combination Would Create a Sensation.

A woman who is a native of Chile was talking recently about the difficulty she had in accustoming herself to card playing among women when she came to this country. She said: "In Chile card playing among women is undreamed of. Perhaps it is not too much to say that a Chilean woman would no more play cards than a New York woman would enter a Broadway saloon. It isn't that it is exactly or wholly a matter of morals with us. It just isn't the thing to do. It is not conventional."

"When I came to New York I brought my daughter-in-law with me, a Chilean girl. She and I were both horribly shocked to receive an invitation to a bridge party in the daytime. It was too much for us, and we declined. Other similar invitations came and kept coming. Finally our curiosity got the best of us, and we went to one of these affairs. Even after we got over our sense of outraged convention the whole thing seemed curious to us."

"The funniest sight of all was the women with little tags on them, as if marked by fast express, or running up to another woman with a little card to be 'punched.' Finally we got sufficiently accustomed to 'take a hand,' but even yet I never do it without a covert feeling that I am putting myself beyond the pale."—New York Post

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Brainerd Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved

In gratitude for relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Brainerd, who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Brainerd kidney sufferers.

Mrs. Alfred Towers, 416 First Ave. Brainerd, Minn., says: "Our experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been very satisfactory. Six years ago we first used this remedy and at that time it did such good work that we publicly endorsed it. Since then we have taken Doan's Kidney Pills when suffering from backache and other symptoms of kidney complaint and we have never failed to receive relief. Our former statement still holds good."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WOMEN IN PORTUGAL.

They Do All the Hard Work While Lazy Men Loll and Smoke.

The lot of women in Portugal is not an enviable one, according to Mr. Aubrey F. C. Bell, who in his book, "In Portugal," thus describes the labor that falls to their share:

"Portuguese men are so notoriously indolent that it is no exaggeration to say that two-thirds of the work of Portugal is done by women. To them the Portuguese word moujejar is really applicable, since, in fact, they work like Moors or slaves. They work in the fields and appear to bear the brunt of the labor."

"In one field the woman in the heat of the day draws up bucket after bucket of water while the man sits perched in a shady olive tree. In the neighboring field a man watches six women at work among the maize. In a third a group of women stand working in the summer sun while a group of men sit at the same work under a vine trellis."

"Everywhere are to be seen women with huge loads of immense weight, while the men accompany them empty handed. The man lies in his cart and must have a cigar and a cope of wine or brandy after his hard day's work, or he sits at his counter and bids his wife go out into the cruel sunshine to fetch a heavy bliten of water or other provisions. Women work in the quarries. Women row heavy barges. Wherever there is hard work women are to be found."

THE RISE OF NEW YORK.

It Dates From the Time that the Erie Canal Was Opened.

If we seek the original creator of landed wealth in New York we must look over the heads of Astor and the Goetts to De Witt Clinton, the man who in 1825 pushed to completion the Erie canal.

Up to that time New York was not inevitably marked out for the American metropolis. In 1800 Philadelphia was actually a larger city, and Baltimore, with its splendid harbor and its inland river communication, confidently expected to grasp the nation's commercial leadership.

But the Erie canal changed the situation in a twinkling. It placed the city in communication with inland New York—an agricultural empire in itself, whose wealth had previously flowed by way of the Susquehanna river to Baltimore—and New York became the seaport for the agricultural states bordering on the great lakes.

Until the Erie canal was opened it had cost $88 a ton to transport wheat from Buffalo to Albany. With this new waterway the cost fell to something more than $5. A string of cities, several of which became large ones, sprang up along its course, all tributary to New York.—Burton J. Hendrick in McClure's Magazine.

Unconscious Bravery.

At a place called Anglin, about forty miles south of Bangkok, a Chinaman and his wife cultivated a small sugar cane plantation. The man had been greatly annoyed by having his cane eaten by his neighbors' buffalo calves. Coming home one evening just at dark, he saw what he thought was one of the marauders at work on the cane. Stealing silently up behind it, he struck it a mighty blow with a heavy club. The animal dropped without a sound. The Chinaman told his wife what he had done and added, "That calf will steal no more of my cane." In the morning he found that the "calf" was a full grown tiger. He had killed it by breaking its neck, just as the woman of Nam had done. And John was so much impressed with his own narrow escape that he took to his bed and was sick for a week.—Youth's Companion.

A Glass Needle Stiletto.

As diabolical a specimen of murderous ingenuity as ever was discovered by the police was found one day in the possession of a Chinaman who had been working in a laundry in New Orleans and who was believed to have intended using it upon his employer. It was a tiny stiletto, with a handle about as thick as a carpenter's pencil and a blade four inches long of glass, pointed as keenly as a needle. A tiny groove had been filed around the blade close to the hilt. Suppose it was driven into a man's body. It would be certain to break off at the groove and leave three inches of glass deep in his flesh. What is more, the puncture would be so tiny that it would probably close at once and show no mark, not even a single drop of blood.

There is only one real failure in life possible, and that is not to be true to the best one knows.—Canon Farrar.

A PROBLEM IN PICTURES.

And the Peculiar Coincidence by Which It Was Solved.

Some years ago a publishing house was preparing to issue a new edition of the writings of Thoreau, writes Charles S. Olcott in Art and Progress. The head of the house and a member of his staff were in consultation about the method of illustration. It was agreed that the pictures must be true to nature, but how to get them was the problem. Artists who do book illustrations could not be expected to go into the woods and make pictures which would in any way assist the text to reveal nature as Thoreau saw it. Photographs would be admirable, but where was the professional photographer to be found who would undertake to go into Thoreau's country in sunshine and rain, in summer and winter, to catch all the phases of nature which Thoreau recorded in his "Journal?"

While the two men pondered a caller sat in the outer office with a large portfolio under his arm. Five years before he had read Thoreau's "Journal" and had taken up his residence in Concord that he might visit the scenes there described. In all seasons and all kinds of weather he had wandered through the woods and over the fields with his camera. Passionately fond of nature, he was no less devoted to art. To him photography was a pastime. It was not his profession. For the pure love of nature and of art and with no thought of pecuniary gain he had accomplished the very feat which the two business men had thought so difficult, and by a curious coincidence he appeared at the office to exhibit the result of his work at the precise moment when its desirability was being discussed.

BURIED LIVING PERSONS.

Horrible Custom of Japanese Prior to Year 646 A. D.

Prior to the year 646 A. D. the Japanese had one of the most horrible burial customs that can be imagined—that of burying all the immediate friends and retainers of a prince or other person of note in a standing position around the potentate's grave and leaving them in the earth up to their necks to perish of thirst and hunger.

The custom cannot be said to have been general as late as the date given, for the Japanese records prove that in the time of the Emperor Suinin (97-30 B. C.) the burial rites of royal personages were so modified as to partially abolish former cruelties. Speaking of a young brother of Suinin, who died and had his retinue buried standing around his grave, the old record says: "For many days they died not, but wept and cried aloud. At last they died. Dogs and crows assembled and ate off their heads. The emperor's compassion was aroused, and he desired to change the manner of burial. When the empress died, soon after, the mikado inquired of his officers if something in the way of a change could not be suggested, and one proposed to make clay figures of men and bury them as substitutes."

That this did not entirely do away with the former custom is proved by an edict issued in the year 646 A. D., the date given first above, which forbade the burial of living persons and provided a penalty for further adherence to the awful rite.—St. Louis Republic.

Old Time Personally Conducted Tour.

The campanile looked down upon the first agencies for conducted tours of which we have record. Five hundred years ago Venice controlled the pilgrim traffic to the Holy Land, and quite a number of firms made a good thing of it. They had their offices in St. Mark's square, with all the apparatus of advertisement, boardings, flags and commissionaires. The contract stipulated how much space aboard a ship and what food each pilgrim was to get, and the agents undertook not merely to carry the pilgrim across the sea, but to conduct him personally to Jerusalem and to take over all negotiations with the officials. For the whole journey the charge was 25 to 30 ducats, a third to be paid before starting, a third in Palestine and a third after returning home.—Manchester Guardian.

Milton's Works.

Milton regarded the "Paradise Regained" as infinitely superior to the "Paradise Lost" and once expressed great surprise that any one should entertain a contrary opinion. He said that of all his works the poem "On the Morning of Christ's Nativity" was his best. It was his earliest, being written in 1629, when he was twenty-one years of age.

Galilee and the Swinging Lamp. The boy Galilee, sitting with hundreds of others in the Cathedral of Pisa on a Sunday morning, saw an attendant draw aside the heavy hanging lamp to light it and then let it swing. Many other eyes saw the same thing, but there was only that pair in Galilee's head which really observed what happened, and only his brain began to reason upon it. He alone noticed that as the swings of the huge lamp became smaller and smaller they always took the same time. He proved it by counting them with his pulse. He had made a great discovery, out of which grew the pendulum clock and the accurate measurement of time.—New York Journal.
